

“I came to know about the Coady through my wife, Ann Kargbo, who was a participant in the 2009 program. I came to the Coady to develop my knowledge in leadership and to broaden my knowledge in development in order for me to put it into practice and develop my country as a whole.”

Siaka Abdulai

Military Officer, Sierra Leone

Republic of Sierra Leone Armed Forces

I am a training instructor at the Armed Forces Training Centre. I am also responsible for the implementation of projects within the military. I train recruits and serving personnel on peacekeeping operations, leadership and military knowledge.

My organization is responsible for the security of the state. It is there to protect the lives and property of the state and to defend the territorial integrity. It also works to assist the government with developmental projects in different communities within the country, such as building schools, constructing roads and HIV & AIDS campaigns.
