

“I came to the Coady to broaden my horizon in development work, and to learn from people with different experiences. The Coady education will enable me to provide leadership and to make my organization more effective in bringing change to our communities.”

Juliette Lampoh-Agroh

Programme Manager

Concern Universal, Ghana

My work involves funding proposal development and other donor relations activities, including reporting. I lead our micro-finance and enterprise development interventions, providing capacity building support to other program staff and local NGO partners. As a result of our work, many rural community dwellers, especially poor women, have been empowered economically and equipped with the necessary information and knowledge to assert their social and political rights.

Concern Universal’s vision is that of a world where justice, dignity and respect prevail for all. We work in partnership to challenge poverty and inequality. We support practical actions that enable people to improve their lives and shape their own futures. CUG’s work is changing the lives of many communities in rural Ghana through improved needed services. These initiatives promote better health and allow particularly women and girls to engage in income generation and educational activities.
