

“I heard about Coady Institute some years before. It gives me an impression that it is a chance to learn about leadership which will further my goal to become a parliamentarian standing up for the poor. This education is best to fulfill my organization and personal development.”

Lensa Simesso Denga

Administration and Human Resource Manager

Professional Alliance for Development in Ethiopia (PADET)

In my work I assess the needs of the society, develop proposals as a team member, look for volunteers, contact potential donors, mobilize resources locally and abroad, handle organizational administration and human resources. I am part of the senior management team.

My organization is dealing with different community based development activities. We focus on women's rights, child rights and youth rights. Our vision is to see a society which is free and exercising its rights. As a result we are building awareness in women, children and youth about their surroundings.
