

“I came to Coady to strengthen my skills, in particular leadership skills, so that I can be effective in my work. I also want to share with other people from other parts of the world on good practices and experiences.”

Simon Kiringu Maina

Field Officer

Constituencies Development Fund, Kenya

My work involves monitoring and evaluation, offering advice on proper records keeping, and liaising with technical officers to give advice to implementals i.e. project management committees.

I also attend grassroots meetings to brainstorm challenges that are affecting certain areas and in line with this organize seminars to build capacities for proper implementation of projects.

The goal of the Constituencies Development Fund is to promote equitable distribution of resources at the grassroots level. It is an organization that takes the approach to principle of devolving resources through encouraging community participation. Members of the community sit down and prioritize projects according to their needs.
