

“Equipped with the skills and training, I will be an effective director to serve the community.”

Oswald Monteiro

Director/Principal, Resemp Community College

Assistant Director, Canara Organization for Development & Peace, India

My work as a director/principal of the institute is to supervise the functioning of the institute, to look forward to new avenues through training, and search for better courses that have more demand. During my time as director, I have enrolled the institute with the government board so that students can obtain recognized certificates and I've entered into an MOU with a local engineering college to give better training to our candidates. There are more and more poor candidates opting for our institute where they get good training at an affordable cost and jobs are ensured.

The main objectives of the Canara Organization for Development & Peace (CODP) are to:

1. empower women in social, cultural, economic, political and spiritual spheres;
2. increase the number of youth engaged in self employment;
3. increase the number of people enjoying good health.
4. promote sustainable environment;
5. promote and establish harmony among people; and
6. inspire, guide and enable young people to become value-based leaders in public service.

I intend to achieve these goals and other needs of my diocese to the best of my ability through various programmes.
