

“The Coady will enhance my knowledge, skills and attitudes in exercising my leadership capacities professionally in the developmental field. Also, it will increase my confidence and work efficiency and help me organise, plan and implement the needs-based and rights-based programs to achieve the vision and goal.”

Fr. Staney D'Almeda

Assistant Director

Organization for the Development of People (ODP), Mysore, India

My roles and responsibilities in ODP have been in the areas of project management and administration for the activities that are being implemented in the backward areas of the 4 district in various sectors. I promote skills for youth in employment and self employment and promote health and sanitation programs in rural areas. As assistant director, I also am responsible for personnel management and strengthening human resources.

O.D.P has walked the path of development since 1984, extending its support and partnership to thousands of poor, needy and marginalized families, to help them grow, improve and have a better quality of life. Change is Development and ODP is working through peoples' groups and implementing various developmental interventions to bring about this change, keeping the following goals in mind: to build the society of love, peace and justice; to restore human dignity to the poor through empowerment; to work for the integrated human development; to bring about change in attitude and an appropriate value system with the involvement of people.

COADY

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE
ST. FRANCIS XAVIER UNIVERSITY