

I came to Coady to find out leadership qualities in me and learn more about how to be a dynamic leader in my society. At the same time to acquire new skills and dynamics of being an efficient leader.

Fr. Justin D'Souza

Assistant Director

Karwar Diocesan Development Council, India

As assistant director, my main focus is to educate children, knowing that a good education can change the fortunes of individual families and society-at-large. I hope to make an impact by showing people that they can see small things in different way, to have positive approaches towards life.

The development council's goal is to establish a society of accessibility and sustainability. Our organization has made an impact by empowering women, and by promoting good governance and self-sustained development using a rights-based approach.
