

I am at Coady Institute to learn different experiences in development around the world, develop new skills, and to join Coady's global network.

Emad Emam

Executive Director

Tamkeen Institution for Development (TID), Egypt

My role includes overseeing the coordination of planning, organizing, staffing and controlling program activities. I involve stakeholders and conduct participatory reviews of our activities.

Tamkeen works hard to promote the participation of marginalized communities, especially children, so they can take ownership of decisions that affect their future. In addition, Tamkeen provides technical and institutional support for those in the field of children's rights, including civil society organizations, shelter/daycare institutions and government organizations.
