

I came to Coady to learn new knowledge that augments and supports my leadership to lead my organization in building resilient communities.

Fr. Arun Sunil Lobo

Coordinator

Carmel Joythi Public Charitable Trust, India

My work is to empower the people to be self-reliant and to promote a sustainable process of social change in favour of the poor and the marginalized communities. I do this through various developmental activities, such as promoting self employment opportunities and skill training for women, and organizing self-help groups that lead to integral transformation.

The mission of the organization is to be the voice of the voiceless by empowering the powerless. We strive to bring about qualitative change in all aspects of the lesser privileged especially women, youth and children, by promoting self-employment and skill training for youth, organizing self-help groups, conducting awareness programmes, offering mobile health care services and residential care for boys.
