

I came to Coady to enhance my effectiveness in delivering the mandate of our organisation, and to develop new allies and partnerships.

Pilot Mathambo

Country Director

Pilot Mathambo Centre For Men's Health, Botswana

I am an LGBTI and HIV/AIDS activist who has worked for various NGOs. I have learned much knowledge and skills in the field of activism and HIV/AIDS. My role is to drive the center's vision by providing guidance and supervision to the country team. I also sit on various boards, including the position of vice-chairperson for the Botswana-Harvard Aids Institute Partnership.

There was still a need for a more specific and targeted group intervention for men who have sex with other men. The idea then matured in late 2011 and led to the creation of an organization called Pilot Mathambo Centre For Men's Health, which is housed within the Ditshwanelo Center for Human Rights. Our vision is to integrate an ethical and human rights dimension into the response to the sexual, reproductive and health rights of all young men without discrimination.
