

I came to Coady Institute to build my leadership skills to address future challenges as more children head to the street.

Program Manager

Child Life-Line, Nigeria

As program manger, I promote the care, well-being and development of children in need, especially the deprived, the abused, the destitute and the homeless. We provide counseling, education and vocational skills training for children and youths in need, enabling them to become self-supporting and independent. I ensure that the programs and services offered by the organization contribute to our mission and reflect best practices, and provide comprehensive responses.

Our goal is to support and enable vulnerable young persons at risk or in need, so they can become self-reliant, self-supporting, independent and responsible citizens. We attempt to empower them through formal and/or vocational education. We want to see that every child is safe and cared for, and has the opportunity to learn and develop into self-reliant, and responsible citizens.
