

I came to Coady to recharge my batteries physically, spiritually and emotionally for the tasks ahead, which will focus on improving the lives of those around me.

Thomas Aduah Quarcoo

Head of Programs

Pro-Link Organization, Ghana

My work includes developing policies and plans, administering projects, and editing reports and publications. I also analyze data for research purposes and conduct monitoring/evaluation programs.

Pro-Link Organization works to forge partnerships to facilitate action by communities and organized groups that will improve their health, education, and economic/social well-being.

Its objectives are to reduce the spread of sexually transmitted diseases and HIV/AIDS through school and workplace programs and to provide care and support for people living with HIV/AIDS. Pro-Link also provides income-generating opportunities to alleviate poverty among urban and rural poor households, and promotes gender equity through research, advocacy and training.
