

To understand the critical role leadership plays in improving the welfare of the communities and be determined to work towards a foundation upon which future generations will build their destiny.

Clive Chibule

Project coordinator

Green Living Movement, Zambia

Training farmers in sustainable agriculture practices (agroforestry, organic farming and gardening), leadership skills and climate change awareness.

Developing training manuals for the farmers on topics such as leadership skills, conflict resolution, facilitation skills and climate change. I also provide extension services/backstopping to the farmers in bee keeping, fish farming, agroforestry and tree planting.

Green Living Movement (GLM) Zambia is an environmental NGO that raises awareness of environmental issues and promotes sustainable agriculture and livelihoods through community empowerment. The organisation's primary target group are rural communities whose livelihoods depend largely on natural resources. The organisation addresses issues specific to climate change adaptation in order to ensure that the communities are able to improve their livelihoods.

COADY

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE
ST. FRANCIS XAVIER UNIVERSITY

Diploma in Development Leadership Class of 2015