

I came to Coady to learn transformative strategies to eliminate barriers inhibiting women from effective leadership and decision-making positions.

Ify Ofong

National coordinator

Women in Development and Environment, Nigeria

As the national coordinator, my job includes fundraising, program design, capacity building training, training manual development, advocacy and sensitization on issues affecting women's rights and girls, monitoring and evaluation of MDG's projects and programs in Nigeria and other donor-funded projects.

Our mandate, as a non-profit organization:

- To eliminate violence against women and other harmful traditional practices
- To promote women's rights, leadership and development
- To promote peace building and alternative conflict resolutions
- To work with policymakers, traditional and political institutions for equal participation in decision-making
- To empower women and girls through livelihoods skills development for income generation
- To sensitize women and girls to make informed sexual health decisions

COADY

INTERNATIONAL INSTITUTE
ST. FRANCIS XAVIER UNIVERSITY

Diploma in Development Leadership Class of 2015