Training needs assessment, design and development of training modules, training facilitation, monitoring and evaluation, tools development for different purposes, coordination with higher management, networking, preparing reports, fundraising for organizational sustainability and looking after church activities.

The Caritas Development Institute (CDI) was established in 1983 as a unique training and research centre of Caritas Bangladesh. To address inequality and social negligence, injustice and the unloved, Caritas Bangladesh established the Institute for developing human resources through appropriate training and research in the field of development works. It started its journey as a Trust of Caritas Bangladesh in 2010.
