

I seek to enhance my knowledge and skills in social innovations, establishing socio-economic programs for women, children and youth. I want to build my agency to establish my own organization that is based on values such as continuous learning, dialogue and peace.

*Project Manager of the Community Empowerment of Refugees in Egypt
Terre des hommes, Egypt*

I am a project manager of one of the migration projects in Tdh, Egypt that is targeting refugee community leaders and local initiatives and helps them build sustainable effective programs and initiatives. As a member of the Tdh management committee, I seek to support my project team's capacity-building to enhance our quality of work and realize targets of our projects while liaising with the project donor.

Terre des hommes works to steadily improve the conditions of the most vulnerable children worldwide. We are focused on five main objectives: improving the health of infants up to the age of three and of children in need of specialized medical care; protecting migrant children; preventing child exploitation; promoting restorative justice for children in conflict with the law; and providing humanitarian aid to children and their families in times of emergency and crisis.
