

I hope that the leadership skills obtained from the Global Change Leaders program will lead me to promote social justice through empowering and building the confidence of local women to become self-aware and actively participate in the life of their communities.

Zamira Komilova

Social Policy and Social Protection Expert

European Union's Human Development Support Programme. Technical Assistance to the Ministry of Health and Social Protection of the Population of the Republic of Tajikistan (MoHSP)

I am in charge of the supervision and coordination of the social commissioning mechanism and its expansion throughout the country. I advocate and raise additional funds for new NGOs to be part of the social commissioning mechanism as well as support mobilization of local communities, particularly women, to form NGOs to become economically independent. I provide capacity building support and skill development.

The Delegation of the European Union to Tajikistan together with the MoHSP promotes the concept of self-empowerment and economic activity of vulnerable people in their communities as well as fostering new models of service provision and development of inclusive communities. MoHSP engages local NGOs to become economically independent through social commissioning mechanisms, e.g. providing funds for NGOs to provide services to vulnerable people locally.
