

I came to Coady to rediscover myself as a leader. As such I expect to learn the best type of leadership that can ensure that I grow in my career while contributing to the success of my organization and all my future undertakings.

Dumase Dumisani Mapemba

Communication, M&E, Research Manager

Women's Legal Resources Centre (WOLREC), Malawi

Through monitoring, evaluation and documentation, I collect, analyze and compile reports plus success stories that assist my organization to decide whether certain practices are replicated or are replaced to achieve the organization's goal. Furthermore, through capacity building of project participants and staff members that I supervise, I contribute to successful implementation of projects.

WOLREC is a local Non-Governmental Organization (NGO) established in 2006 whose mission is to facilitate increased access to legal, socio-political and economic justice for women and girls in Malawi. The organization's vision is to have a society in which women's rights are recognized, respected and protected. It is currently implementing governance, social justice and economic empowerment themed projects in 12 districts of Malawi.
