

“I came to Coady to deepen my knowledge and understanding of the theories and practicalities of leadership, learn and share experiences with other participants worldwide and to forge alliances/networks that will enhance my work as a leader.”

Elizabeth Ladjer Bibi Agbettor

Programme manager (Inclusion)

Ghana Blind Union, Accra, Ghana

I coordinate programmes and activities to ensure that visually impaired children and youth have equal opportunities to attend and stay in school, study in a safe environment, and have access to learning materials, specialized teachers and appropriate assessment methods. I also coordinate training programmes aimed at providing sustainable livelihood skills for women with disabilities, especially visually impaired women and youth. I coordinate all the advocacy activities of my organization.

My organization is membership-based and advocates for the total inclusion of blind and partially-sighted persons into all facets of life. It does this through awareness raising and the development of services in education and rehabilitation, and the promotion of the rights of women, youth, children and elderly. We forge alliances with like-minded organizations in the disability arena to hold government accountable for the development and implementation of rights-based policies.
