

I came to Coady with the hope of becoming a better leader to be able to bring about change I want to see in my country. I hope to learn through sharing of experiences and best practices from powerful women around the world. I want to be an inspiration for other women and children, and to empower them towards positive change.

Swastika Kasaju

Assistant project manager

Child Workers in Nepal Concerned Centre (CWIN), Nepal

My passion is to work for the rights of children and women. I strongly believe in creating access to equal opportunities and building capacities in people is the path to their empowerment. I work mostly in creating spaces for children and women to realise their potential and also on advocating to ensure their rights and protection.

CWIN Nepal is a pioneer organisation advocating for the protection of child rights. CWIN works with the most vulnerable children and aims to empower and support them. Our main areas of concern are child labour, street children, child marriage, bonded labour, trafficking of children, children in conflict with laws and commercial-sexual exploitation of children.
