

Facilitation and Training Approaches for Community Change

November 6 - November 23, 2018

Development practitioners, trainers and educators in this course learn participatory design and facilitation approaches and techniques. Participants improve their skills through hands-on, small group practice and strengthen their knowledge of principles and practices of transformative education. Collectively, they create strategies for overcoming challenges in their own work.

“My studies at Coady have not only increased my knowledge and skills in community development, but have changed my attitude and given me the skills essential for leadership.”

Coady graduate

Facilitation and Training Approaches for Community Change

Personal benefits

- Learn participatory design and facilitation techniques;
- Strengthen knowledge of theories, principles and practices of transformative, emancipatory adult education and participatory training;
- Build skills to recognize and demonstrate different curriculum design theories and practices, with particular emphasis on participatory approaches;
- Learn creative strategies for analyzing issues and overcoming challenges experienced in facilitation and training in the field.

Organizational benefits

- Design and implement process facilitation within your community and organization;
- Develop local and international strategies for inter-agency collaboration and networking in participatory education and training.

Who should take the Program?

This certificate is designed primarily for experienced facilitators and trainers, and those who do a significant amount of facilitation in their work who want to explore new theories, principles and practices in participatory adult education and training approaches.

Scholarships

Thanks to the generous financial support of Global Affairs Canada, as well as a number of individual and institutional donors, Coady International Institute is able to offer partial scholarships to most candidates accepted into the Institute's education programs.

Please visit coady.stfx.ca to ensure you meet the deadlines.

How to apply

For information on scholarships, detailed admission requirements and how to apply, please visit: coady.stfx.ca/education/

Based at St. Francis Xavier University, Coady International Institute offers programs relevant for today's community development practitioner and social change actor. The Institute is an educational organization dedicated to identifying, developing and disseminating knowledge on effective development practice. As a leader in the study and practice of community-based development, Coady Institute provides relevant programs that help others make a positive difference in their own communities.